BOSTON, February 2.

Wednesday laſt the great and general Court of Aſſembly of this province met here, when his Excellency the Governor was pleaſed to make the following SPEECH to both Houſes, viz.

Gentlemen of the Council, and
Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

AT the opening of this ſeſſion, I have nothing by command of his Majeſty to lay before you: What I have to propoſe from myſelf, ſhall be communicated by ſeparate papers.

At preſent, I have only to recommend to you, that the ſupport of the authority of the government, the maintenance of the honour of the province, and the promotion of the welfare of the people, may be the chief objects of your conſultations. Theſe are duties common to us all; and while they are truly purſued, there can be no room for diſagreement or diſſatisfaction.

Council Chamber,
Jan. 28th, 1767. FRAN. BERNARD.

Laſt Saturday a committee of the honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives waited upon his Excellency the Governor, with the following ANSWER to his SPEECH at the opening of the preſent ſeſſion, viz.

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

YOUR ſpeech to both houſes of the general aſſembly, at the opening of the preſent ſeſſions, has been duly conſidered by the houſe of repreſentatives.

Your Excellency is pleaſed to recommend "the ſupport of the authority of the government, the maintenance of the honour of the province, and the promotion of the welfare of the people, as the chief objects of our conſultations."

By the authority of the government, this houſe underſtand, the charter-rights and powers of the great and general court or aſſembly of this province, and the ſeveral branches of the ſame; and the power with which the civil officers of the province are by law veſted.—While the members of that aſſembly firmly maintain thoſe rights and powers, and the body of the people ſteadily and vigorouſly ſuſtain and protect the civil officers in the exerciſe of their reſpective powers, in the full execution of the good laws of the province, and the diſcharge of their ſeveral truſts, whether judiciary or miniſterial, we apprehend the authority of the government is then ſupported: It is neceſſary for the ſupport of this authority, that the houſe of repreſentatives well inform themſelves of the true extent of thoſe rights and powers, and ſacredly adhere to their own rights as one branch of the legiſlature: That they zealouſly aſſert the rights of their conſtituents, the people of this province; without tranſgreſſing the bounds of their own power, or invading the rights and prerogatives of the other branches of the aſſembly: And that they endeavour that the body of the people be alſo well acquainted with their own natural and conſtitutional rights and privileges; and the liberty, ſafety, peace and happineſs which they will not fail to enjoy, while the general aſſembly is protected in the due exerciſe of their rights and powers, and the laws of the land have their free courſe, and are faithfully and impartially executed. This, may it pleaſe your Excellency, being our own apprehenſion of the authority of the government, and its ſupport, we ſhall always greatly rejoice to find your Excellency exciting and animating us in the diſcharge of this important duty. As it would be unpardonable in us ever to loſe ſight of it, your Excellency may be aſſured, that we ſhall always make the ſupport of the authority of the government one great object of our conſultations.

Upon this occaſion we cannot forbear to obſerve, to your Excellency, with concern, that when the two houſes were directed to attend your Excellency in the council-chamber, at a time when none but the general aſſembly and their ſervants are intended to be preſent, his honour the lieutenant governor was pleaſed to appear in general aſſembly, and there to continue till the houſe returned to their chamber, while your Excellency was not only in the province, but actually in the chair: We are of opinion that this conduct is not ſupportable by any precedent; but ſhould there be found, upon ſearching ancient records, any inſtance of the kind, it is not only in itſelf an impropriety, but repugnant to the conſtitution and the letter of the charter; which declares the great and general court to conſiſt of the governor, and council or aſſiſtants for the time being, and ſuch freeholders of the province as ſhall be from time to time elected or deputed by the major part of the freeholders and other inhabitants qualified by the royal charter to give their votes. If the honourable gentleman was introduced by your Excellency, we apprehend that the happieſt means of ſupporting the authority of the government or maintaining the honour of the province were not conſulted therein: But if he came in and took a ſeat of his own motion, we are conſtrained to ſay, that it affords a new and additional inſtance of ambition and luſt of power, to what we have heretofore obſerved.

If your Excellency ſo recommending to our conſultations the ſupport of the authority of the government, intends that the executive power is become weak and calls for the aid of the legiſlative; and that an ill-temper and a factious ſpirit ſo far prevails in the province, as to require ſeverer methods, we can with great ſatisfaction inform you otherwiſe: Your Excellency may be aſſured, that a diſpoſition in the people to yield all due obedience to his Majeſty's authority and the laws of this province, renders it altogether unneceſſary that any extraordinary methods ſhould be taken for that purpoſe. And as the welfare of the people ſo much depends upon it, we have juſt reaſon to expect that every branch of the legiſlature will take the moſt effectual meaſures to remove from the mind of our Sovereign ſuch unfavourable ſentiments of the province, as have been occaſioned by the malignant whiſpers of his enemies.

We cannot promiſe your Excellency, that there ſhall be no diſagreement or diverſity of ſentiments in matters of importance that may come before the general court: This is ſcarcely to be expected in a free aſſembly: In ſuch caſes, this houſe, as they ever have, will firſt conſider their own honour concerned, to debate with candor, and to decide with judgment;

While the true end of government is kept in view, and invariably purſued in the ſeveral departments of it, the honour of the province and the welfare of the people will be maintained and promoted; and there can be no room for diſſatisfaction.

Had your Excellency any command from his Majeſty to lay before us, we ſhould attend to it with the utmoſt loyalty and reſpect; being fully perſuaded that our gracious Sovereign will require of us nothing but what is juſt and wiſe: When you ſhall be pleaſed to communicate to us any propoſal of your own, we ſhall duly conſider its nature, importance and tendency, and act agreeable to the beſt light of our own underſtanding.

On Friday laſt a committee of the honourable Houſe of Repreſentatives waited on his Excellency the Governor, with the following meſſage,

May it pleaſe your Excellency,

THE houſe of repreſentatives beg to be informed by your Excellency, whether any proviſion has been made, at the expence of this government, for his Majeſty's troops lately arrived in this harbour, and by whom? And alſo, whether your Excellency has reaſon to expect the arrival of any more, to be quartered in this province.

To which his Excellency was pleaſed the ſame day, to ſend them the following anſwer.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Repreſentatives,

IN anſwer to your meſſage of this day, I ſent you a copy of the minutes of council, by which proviſion for the artillery company at the caſtle, in purſuance of the late act of parliament, was made.

I intended to lay the matter before you, and had given orders for an account of the preſent expence to be made out for that purpoſe; which having received ſince your meſſage came to me, I hereby communicate.

I have received no advice whatever, of any other troops being to be quartered in this province, nor have I any reaſon to expect the arrival of ſuch, except from common report, to which I give little credit.

New Advertiſements.

To the Gentlemen Merchants, reſiding in the Province of SOUTH-CAROLINA.

WHEREAS the hon. HECTOR BERENGER DE BEAUFAIN, Eſq. the late Collector at this port, hath often expreſſed his doubts to me, relative to the propriety of admitting Madera Wines, &c. to an entry for exportation, after the ſame had been landed, as a contrariety to the ſenſe of the late Act of Trade, enacted in the 4th year of his preſent Majeſty's glorious reign; and that, for the better underſtanding thereof, he had repreſented the ſame to the honourable Commiſſioners of his Majeſty's Cuſtoms, for their directions therein.

In conſequence whereof, their honours the Commiſſioners have thought fit to return a general and explanatory anſwer, dated the 9th of October laſt for the future rule and conduct, in this particular (as I conceive) recommended to all the Collectors and other officers of the Revenue in America, to which all due attention and regard is and ought to be paid, purporting, "That if Wines are reported for exportation, they muſt remain on board the ſhip, "under a proper guard; for if they are landed, the duties muſt be paid, and cannot be "drawn back: but in caſe of neceſſary repairs for the veſſel, which may require the unſhipping of the goods, the Wines may be put on ſhore in ware-houſes provided by the proprietor, at his own expence, approved of by his Majeſty's Officers of the Cuſtoms, and ſecured under the joint locks of the Collector and Comptroller, as well as the proprietor, "till they are ſhipped for exportation."

THESE ARE THEREFORE to requeſt ſuch gentlemen who have Wines now landed, intending to re-ſhip the ſame for exportation as uſual, that they make their entries at the Cuſtom-Houſe accordingly, that his Majeſty's duties may be ſecured, agreeable to the inſtruction I have received; and that they would alſo immediately diſcharge all arrears for the duties due in the late Collector's time, as well as all the duties owing to me, ſince the 28th July laſt.

Signed at the Cuſtom Houſe, in Charles-Town, the 28th day of February, 1767.

ACQUAINT all perſons indebted to them, either by bond, note, or book debts, that unleſs they are diſcharged by the firſt day of March next, they will, without diſtinction, be put into the hands of an attorney at law, to be recovered; it is therefore hoped every perſon concerned may pay a due regard to this timely notice, as it will be a means of preventing that trouble which otherwiſe unavoidably muſt enſue.—Their 'Compting houſe is kept on the Bay, next door to Meſſrs. N. B. CAPT. STEPHEN BRUNDRET, of the ship Ranger, who arrived at Oporto 14 days from Oporto, has given us the following account of his extraordinary and inhuman treatment there; which may serve (among many other instances) to shew how those allies of Britain reward her for her protection and friendship, to which they owe so much ——Here follows the narrative in his own words; remarks are left to the reader ——"I Stephen Brundell, one of his Britannic Majesty's subjects, master and part owner of the ship Ranger, of Poole, arrived at Oporto the 4th of November 1766 from Newfoundland, with a cargo of fish, which I was to sell at the mast, remit the proceeds home, and then proceed for South Carolina, where I was ordered to load. Nov. 8 I hawled my ship to the key, and took the booms on board, in order to be in landing my cargo on Monday the 10th. But at midnight on the 9th, the watch upon deck alarmed me with the cry, for all hands below to jump up, there being thieves on board, robbing the vessel. Amongst the rest I went up, without dressing myself, and found my people taking a thief in over the bow, who had already cut away my fore clew-garnet and reeft takle fall, and with them jumpt into a boat he had under the bow, with an accomplice, into which the watch had followed and taken him out with the clew-garnet. The accomplice immediately pushed off in the boat with his takle fall. I then ordered the thief to be taken care of till day-light, in order to know who he was, deliver him up, and obtain justice, and would have put him down the steerage, but he drew his knife, and became so unruly, that I was obliged to order him to be tied to the mizen-mast, where he soon cut himself loose, when I ordered his arms to be tied; but no person offered to strike or otherwise ill use him. He proved to be a Portugueze soldier belonging to the garison. His accomplice had called other soldiers his comrades, and about 2 in the morning (very dark) a number of them came down to the ship, upon whose first appearance I caused the planks on the stage to be hawl'd in, to prevent their getting on board, and murdering us all. They asked for the thief; I answered that I intended to deliver him up in the morning: Finding they could not get on board, they replied, it was very well, and went off. Had I seen an officer, or an order to deliver the fellow up, or known of any guards upon the wall, I would gladly have got rid of him. The 10th, a little before sun-rise, twelve Portugueze soldiers came along side in a boat with their muskets, and bayonets fixed; I received them on board, neither offering, nor expecting to meet with, any ill-treatment, shewed them the thief, and told them what he had done; they took him away without any order, or even an officer above a serjeant; after which, to my great astonishment, they seized me, my boatswain, and a man belonging to another English vessel, who happened to be on my deck, dragg'd us along like dogs, and tumbled us head foremost into their boat. I made some resistance, by holding fast to the ensign staff, but a soldier's attempting to run me thro' the back with his bayonet, (which was happily beat off) I was obliged to submit. As soon as they had tumbled us into the boat, we were most unmercifully beat and bruised with the but-ends of their muskets, myself in particular so much that I never recovered the beating while I remained at Oporto after, then tied our hands together, and thus led and guarded us as the worst malefactors to a prison, where my unfortunate companions were again severely beaten, till I paid two new crowns to the villains there to desist. From hence we were soon after carried, our hands again tied, to the common jail. In this confinement we remained till the 15th, when my merchant, Mr. Thomas Stafford, by paying the head-prison-keeper five Moidores, representing to the governor my ill state of health thro' the beating, and petitioning for my being released, obtained leave to remove me to his house for my recovery. The 24th the jail keeper (I suppose expecting more money) sent to demand me back from my private to the public prison, whether I was forced again to go ill as I was: The same day, however, upon the consul and Mr. Stafford's again petitioning the governor, leave was obtained for my return to my private prison; where I remained, without daring to stir out, or see after my ship or business, till the 5th of December; when, upon a new petition to the governor, setting forth that my ship was unloaded, and ready to proceed upon a charter-party to South Carolina, I was at last released from my private prison, and my boatswain and the other men from the common jail, upon the moderate terms of paying every charge they thought proper to bring against me and them, and without any other satisfaction for the insults, injuries, and ill-usage we had received."

The ship Beaufain, Capt. Daniel Curling, clear'd fine our last for London, has on board no less than 394 casks, containing 141,009 pounds weight of nett indico (supposed about one third of the crop) besides 751 barrels of rice, 14 hogsheads and six bundles of dress'd deer skins, 17,799 pounds weight of hemp, 32 barrels of turpentine, 5 boxes of seeds, and other articles, and is reckoned the richest ship that has sailed from this port, except the Squerries, Capt. David Mitchell, who in the year 1759 took in upwards of 200,000 pounds weight of indico.

The sloop St. Augustine packet, Benjamin Barton master, from this port, was lost on St. Augustine bar, going in, on Saturday the 21st past; some part of the cargo, 'tis said, was saved.
